Nixon Suffers First Setback in Refusal to Change Debt Ceiling

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has been dealt the first legislative setback of his six-week-old administration—refusal by the House Ways and Means Committee to refigure the national debt ceiling as he requested.

Instead of a redefined limit giving the Treasury $17 billion in new borrowing power, the committee approved Thursday a temporary $12 billion increase.

It will get the Treasury through some tight squeezes anticipated for next month and late summer. But in political terms it means the new administration will have to come back to the Democratic-controlled Congress early in 1970 to ask for another increase and face quizzing on its economy record.

The arrangement Nixon sought was expected to postpone debt limit problems at least two years and possibly indefinitely. In the past, Republicans have teamed with conservative Democrats to keep Democratic administrations returning annually to Congress when they wanted to raise the ceiling.

The present limit is $365 billion. The committee approved a $12 billion increase through June 30, 1970.

Nixon had proposed a rearrangement of the debt subject to limitation that would have resulted in a $300 billion ceiling, while at the same time giving the Treasury the additional $17 billion borrowing authority.

While the Ways and Means Committee took no formal votes on the issue, the Democratic majority was understood to be heavily against the Nixon proposal.

days and declared my desk a public fire hazard. That, I submit, is sinking to a new low.

They denounce the material on my desk—it has overflowed four filing cabinets, the tops of those cabinets, a bookcase, and two adjoining windows—as “trash” or “junk.”

How illiterate can people be? What they don't realize is that to me my desk is a thing of joy and a beauty forever. My theory is that it takes a heap of piling on to make a desk a home, and my desk is the home of my mind.

I love every scrap of information it contains—from the early history of Winchester, Va., to a public statement issued on a Sunday in 1938 by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, a man who rarely let a Sunday go by without issuing a public statement. To me this material isn't printed debris. It is mental manna that somehow, sometime, will be useful.

When I go to my final reward, if I can't take my present desk with me, I'm going to say:

“O Lord, then give me a new desk, and an acre of space in heaven, and let me clutter it through all eternity.”

And I know what His tolerant answer will be:

“Why not, son? I don't mind a little clutter myself. If I did, I'd have scrapped the earth long ago. It hasn't been exactly a shining example of universal order.”

More Bodies Expected to Be Found

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis said today “I expect more bodies to be found” in an isolated reach of Cape Cod sand dunes where rude graves have yielded the corpses of four girls.

Antone Costa, 25, an unemployed carpenter and one-time taxidermist, was arrested on a murder charge soon after the hacked bodies of two girls from Providence, R.I., were unearthed two days ago.

Dist. Judge Gershon D. Hall ordered Costa committed to the Bridgewater State Hospital Thursday for a mental examination.

Dinis said he based his belief that a number of additional slayings had been committed on the fact that several missing person reports on Cape Cod girls were still unsolved.

The two Rhode Island girls were Patricia Walsh, 23, a school teacher, and Mary Ann Wysocki, 23, a college student, both of Providence.

Dr. Daniel H. Hiebert, district medical examiner, who performed autopsies on their bodies, said both were shot dead and then hacked apart.

Sirhan Not Sorry and Not Proud

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan says he's “not sorry, but not proud” of having killed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and claims the details of the assassination are a blank in his mind.

The defense said Thursday it had 17 more witnesses to present to the jury for first degree murder for the slaying early on June 5, 1968.

Sirhan's 3½ days in the witness stand became more a forum for invective against Jews and Zionism than an explanation of why he killed the presidential aspirant he claimed to love and admire.

“I don't remember,” Sirhan kept saying when questioned about the murder or about the notebooks in which he wrote of his plans to kill the senator.

“Are you glad he's dead?” asked Lynn D. Compton, the prosecutor.

“No, sir,” said Sirhan, “I'm not glad.”

“Are you sorry?”

“No, sir, I'm not sorry, but not proud of it either because I have no exact knowledge of having killed him.”

Except for the times when the subject of Jews or Zionism was brought up, Sirhan testified calmly. But he fidgeted, toyed with the microphone cord and appeared to be concentrating on defense attorney Grant B. Cooper leaning against the rail halfway across the room.

Sirhan told of having some gin drinks at a post-election party in the Ambassador Hotel and “feeling quite high,” going to his car where he had left the .22-caliber revolver he had used on a gunnery range that afternoon.

But, he said, he felt too drunk to drive; returned to the hotel to find some coffee, and didn't remember picking up the gun.

“As a result of what has happened, you know you must have picked it up,” said Cooper.

“I must have sir.”

Sirhan said he poured himself coffee from a big urn and was talking with a pretty girl.

“What happened next?”

“I don't remember.”

“What was the next thing you did?”

“The next thing I remember, sir, I was being choked.”

After Kennedy was shot, following a speech proclaiming his victory in the California Democratic Presidential primary, Sirhan was subdued by a half dozen members of Kennedy's party and hotel personnel.

Compton asked Sirhan whether he had any recollection previously of having blacked out.

“No, sir,” said Sirhan.

The defense claims Sirhan has had blackout spells since his childhood in war-torn Jordan.

“As a matter of fact, except for this night at the Ambassador hotel, you have never had any experience where you couldn't remember the things that you have done or had any periods like that?” Compton asked.

“No, sir. There are some things that I couldn't remember,” Sirhan replied. “I don't remember those notebooks, sir.”

Sirhan said his love for Kennedy turned to hate when he learned of the New York senator's long-standing support of Israel in the Mid-east crisis.

Newspaper
at Memphis
Is Struck

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — About 75 pickets appeared early today in front of the Commercial Appeal-Memphis Press Scimitar building, as Local 91 of the American Newspaper Guild met with the Memphis Publishing Co. in an all-night negotiating session. Both newspapers are in the Scripps-Howard newspaper group.

Several of those on the picket line, which turned back anyone who reported for work, were identified by those who knew them as members of Local 11, International Typographers Union.

The guild said earlier it was stalemated with the company over jurisdictional issues and had not reached the point where money was discussed.

One Vote Keeps
Mixed Drinks
as Passed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate failed by one vote today to pass a bill that would change the new mixed-drink law to require a local-option election in dry counties before private clubs can be issued permits to serve mixed drinks.

The bill failed on a vote of 17-8.

The bill remained alive, however, when the Senate refused to table any reconsideration and Sen. W. K. Ingram of West Memphis arose to give notice he might bring it up for reconsideration within three days.

Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff, the author, said that everything he had read about the mixed-drink proposal had referred to it as a local-option bill but that this wasn't true since the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board would be empowered to issue permits to private clubs in all counties, whether wet or dry, to serve mixed drinks.

“My one purpose is to make an honest girl out of the mixed-drink bill,” Gathright said.

Sen. David Partain of Van Buren said Gathright's measure would only do what the legislators through the mixed-drink bill would do when they first convened. “We have overridden the will of the people,” Partain said.

Gathright said the reason there was no more opposition to the mixed-drink proposal was that the people thought it was a local-option bill.

Sen. Milt Earnhart of Fort Smith said the Senate should give the new law an opportunity to work before changing it.

Families of Astronauts Real Proud

By MIKE COCHRAN

Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Her husband had only a walk-on role in the Apollo television drama, but Mrs. Ann Scott says "It was good to see old Gumdrops."

Like millions of television viewers, she was looking on Thursday as the Apollo crew ended its television specials from space with a live, 15-minute transmission.

Mrs. Scott light-heartedly complained that her husband and his spaceship, code name Gumdrops, were not getting equal television exposure.

The first telecast was restricted to the attached moon ferry module and showed only astronauts James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart at work inside the tiny cabin.

Air Force Col. David R. Scott, alone in the command module, was not visible.

"We'll show you a picture of Davey over in the Gumdrops waving at you," McDivitt told the TV audience, focusing the camera in the lunar ferry ship, nicknamed Spider, on the command module.

"Oh, it's a good view, spider," Mission Control told McDivitt. "Hey, that's terrific, Dave, how about waving at the folks back home . . . we can see you waving, Dave . . . that's a terrific shot . . . getting the earth in the

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

SECOND MARRIAGE, DOUBLE PROBLEMS

Dear Helen: Before we left the wedding chapel, my second husband informed my six-and-eight-year-olds that his brother was NOT their uncle, and that he was their STEP father. Never were they to call him anything that means "father." He also told his brother's child that I am her step-aunt, and to his brother, he referred to me as his "step-wife."

When his three children are with us, it's bedlam, and I am not to interfere. They never even say "Thank you" after staying here for a week!

Then when he takes the children home he spends a whole afternoon with his ex-wife, discussing things (he says), while the kids stay in another room.

When I complain about his spoiling his children, he says blood is thicker than water and a wife shouldn't be very close to her husband because they are not of the same flesh and blood. I'm thinking of taking a vacation with my two the next time his three come to "his" house background."

McDivitt and Schweickart took viewers on a tour of the lunar module after tying them a look at a space meal.

"The commander is talking while he's eating," Schweickart said. "He's not supposed to do that."

"Hey, Red Rover," ground control said to Schweickart, who got the Red Rover tag during his space walk earlier. "How about a big smile for the folks at home?"

Back in Texas, Clare Schweickart said she was surprised at the code name: "I never heard him called that before."

Pat McDivitt kept her three oldest children home from school so they could watch the show. It was great, they agreed later.

for a vacation with my two for a vacation. Also, I feel that if they are here for a month or so, then we should keep the support money (which my husband sends to his ex-wife) for the duration of their stay. After all, we're feeding and clothing them while they are here, and they eat like food was going out of style.

Also, my husband never spends a red cent on my children. All they get comes from their real father. They are even charged monthly for food, car gas, their share of utilities and rent, which goes into the bank. In other words, their support money goes into his pocket. Does this marriage have a future? — STEP WIFE

Dear Step: This marriage has five strikes against it, plus a husband few women could take. I wouldn't give it much chance! — H.

Dear Helen: I am a man who's been married for 18 years. Every Wednesday I bowl with my co-workers (mixed crowd). We finish at 9 p.m. and have a few drinks and breakfast. I'm usually home by 4 a.m., sometimes 5 or 6. The same crowd goes to company dinners, etc.

My wife objects, as she says I only take her out about once a year, to the company Christmas party. Also I have had a few affairs in the past, but all this is changed and I love only her.

Please convince her my Wednesday nights are as innocent and should continue. — MISUNDERSTOOD HUSBAND

Dear Husband: I'm not convinced, myself.

If your Wednesday nights are pure wholesome bowl, bar and breakfast sessions why don't you take your wife along? She survived the company Christmas party, so she might even LIKE your friends. — H.

Dear Helen: Hope I'm not too late with this message:

Dear Helen: I am making no comment on "Outdated" who wonders if a virgin bride is an anachronism, but her letter brought to mind what my sister said at a bridal shower. The girls were wondering too, and she answered, "Well, I'm glad my husband didn't practice one ME!" — MRS. H.D.

Dear Helen: Hope I'm not too late with this message:

If your readers want to know where to send their old Christmas cards, I can recommend: R.D. Devasigomony, Evang. Tabernacle, No. 49, Stanley Nagar, Madras, 21, South India.

Brother Devasigomony is a poor national Christian evangelist who serves full time as a minister without pay. The people coming to his little hut-like church walk 10 miles to worship. He need printed material and particularly religious-type cards for use in Sunday School. Mark the package "Used cards, no value," and postage will not be great. — HARRY

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — By a coincidence, crank telephone calls have been important plot elements in two police-action stories this week.

On Tuesday night, it was Lieutenant Haines' wife in "N.Y.P.D." who was being harassed by strange calls. On Thursday night's "Ironside," it was another of the chief's old friends, a beautiful widow with lots of money and a beastly brother.

Lieutenant Haines immediately put two of his best detectives to work in an effort to find the tormentor. Chief Ironside and his aides dropped everything else to uncover a plot.

It may be that it works that way if one has special contacts with police departments. But in real life, when that sort of thing happens, the victim finally decides the best way out is to change to an unlisted telephone number. That usually works since in real life the caller is usually someone who has picked a name and number from a directory—rarely is it the deliberate kickoff point leading to some foul deed.

Any family receiving a flurry of strange telephone calls is likely to become at the least nervous. Since in both TV stories the women reacted with frantic fear to the calls, the idea might serve to stimulate cruel practical jokes or deranged persons to copy it.

From time to time television has been accused, among other things, of providing "blueprints of crime" in its police and private eye series. Sharp details nowadays are frequently blurred a bit but most of us know about the fingerprints and getaway cars.

"It Takes a Thief" and "Mission: Impossible" are two shows in which all sorts of criminal techniques are used but all in a worthy cause and nobody could possibly copy them.

It doesn't take much skill, however, to pick up a phone and proceed to scare the daylight out of the person on the other end of the line.

Indefatigable Judy Carne of "Laugh-In" who might have spent the summer drying out from her water-drenched sock-it-to-me season with the show will spend her vacation this year turning out a dozen "Summer Music Hall" shows for NBC. She will work with the singing team of Sandler and Young in programs taped in England. The other six shows in the series will star Don Ho and be made in his home base, Hawaii. The summer series starts in mid-May.

Bad Habit

The habit most women have of carrying combs loosely in their handbags is a bad one. Always make sure the comb is as clean as possible before using, because it may carry to the hair traces of face powder, lipstick or some other cosmetic with which it has been in contact in your handbag. Also, lint, paper scraps, dust and bits of tobacco have a way of accumulating in purses, and the comb should be checked for such materials before being used in the hair.

The costume sets the tone for Easter. The navy dress (left) is softly shaped giving contrast to the red, white and navy check jacket that is back-belted. Not shown in this Zelinka-Mattick design is a skirt of the checked fabric. Red, white and blue checks create the costume (right) by Abbe Robiner. The hip-length jacket is single-breasted with navy leather buttons and a miniscule belt. The skirt has front and back panels.

FASHION IN THE NEWS

By HELEN HENNESSY

NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The palette for Easter fashions will rival any basket of colored eggs. But the big color story could have come straight from the musical pen of John Philip Sousa. It's red, white and blue.

In checks, stripes, prints and solids, the colors of the flag will lead every Easter parade across the country.

The costume—in two or three component parts—is once again a spring favorite. And Trevira, a new polyester, has been blended with wool for beauty and stamina in designs by such greats of Seventh Avenue as Donald Brooks, Pauline Trigere, Bill Blass, Geoffrey Beene, Oscar de la Renta and others. One reason for the use of this new polyester is that colors become deeper and the finished fabric is both soft and crispy, a difficult result to achieve.

Coats for Easter are shirty, waisted, gently fitted and often belted. Watch for the new sleeveless and mini-sleeved styles.

Suits, always big on the Easter scene, will have tailored collars, shaped or belted waists on longer jackets that flare over the hips. But the bolero, too, is back.

One new suit jacket silhouette is seamed across the mid-back to fit and flare at the neckline.

For the dress to wear under that Easter coat if a costume is not your cup of tea, the shirtdress—a skimmer without sleeves or a full-sleeved number gathered at the waist with full skirt—is at the head of the fashion agenda.

The shoes you walk in on that hopefully bright Sunday in April should have chunky heels and a soft rounded or squared toe. Even sandals, while strappy, keep a heavier look with a heavier sole.

As for hosiery, the patterned and tinted stockings now have a more sheer look. The opaques are semisheer, the patterns dotted or lacy.

Hats to complete the Easter look are soft, crushy felts, floppy straws or little berets. The stiffer hat, in wrapped fabric or straw, is small, more of a cap.

Handbags are larger than last year, whether soft and pouchy or the box type. And in bags and shoes, the colors that predominate are also red, white and blue.

In fact, the patriotic vein of fashion color for the holiday may bring out rebellion in a gal who doesn't want to be part of the herd.

Her best choice is in the tan-to-white group or gray, which is smart and new in appearance.

There are lots of pretty pastels available, too. So unless it's a combo you prefer, there's no need to join the tricolor group that will surely swell the march on Easter Sunday.

Collision of Carolina Teams Set

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
North Carolina and South Carolina are on another collision course in Charlotte N.C., while Drake and Louisville are all set for a showdown in Wichita Kan.

It's getting close to tournament time once again in the college basketball work—NCAA regional play begins Saturday—and there's no tomorrow for the stragglers in those conference races still undecided.

The Carolinas who divided two earlier meetings, won their way into the Atlantic Coast Conference semi-finals with easy victories Thursday. Fourth-ranked North Carolina walloped Clemson 94-70 while 13th-rated South Carolina trimmed Maryland 92-71.

In tonight's semis the Tar Heels meet Wake Forest which downed North Carolina State 71-73, and the Gamecocks face Duke, a 99-86 winner over Virginia.

The Missouri Valley Conference wound up in a tie when 11th-ranked Drake blasted St. Louis 93-78 and No. 15 Louisville edged Bradley 82-78. They'll play off Monday night in Wichita.

At stake in the ACC and MVC are berths in the 25-32m NCAA tourney. The only other races still undecided are the Big Eight where Kansas and Colorado are tied with one game to go, and the West Coast Athletic, where Santa Clara needs one victory in two weekend games.

The NIT, which gets under way in New York next Thursday, added St. Peter's, Wyoming, Tulsa and Ohio University and will name the remaining six entries in the 16-team field today.

In other big games Thursday night 16th-ranked Boston College in Bob Cousy's home fare-well as coach surprised ninth-rated Duquesne 93-78; Rutgers, an NIT entrant, won its 16th straight and completed a best-ever 21-3 regular season with a 77-74 decision over New York U.; Fordham likely clinched an NIT bid by trouncing Manhattan 85-75 and San Jose State remained in the WCAC race with a 89-55 rout of Los Angeles Loyola.

North Carolina raced to a 9-0 lead over Clemson and shel-lacked the Tigers as Rusty Clark and Bill Bunting split 44 points. Super soph John Roche helped South Carolina shoot down Maryland with 27 points although the losers' Will Hetzel got 33.

In the other ACC contests Dick DeVenzio and Steve Vandenberg had 24 points and Randy Denton 23 in Duke's win over Virginia and Jerry Montgomery's eight points in the final 63 seconds carried Wake Forest past N.C. State.

Drake gave St. Louis the willies—namely Willie Wise, who hit 33 points, and Willie McCarter, who had 16. Louisville, meanwhile, couldn't shake stubborn Bradley until a seven-point run gave the Cardinals a 65-58 lead. Jerry King was high man with 30 points and Butch Beard added 20.

Terry Driscoll made Cousy's home finale a happy one with 28 points and 17 rebounds. Cousy will close out his career after six seasons when the Eagles participate in the NIT.

Semifinals in Hockey Meet

BOSTON (AP) — Cornell will play Boston University and Harvard meets Clarkson tonight in the semifinals of the ECAC Hockey Tournament at Boston Garden.

The tournament winner will represent the East in next week's NCAA championships at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Patriots Sign Second Choice

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Patriots of the American Football League have announced the signing of No. 2 draft choice Mike Montier, an offensive tackle from the University of Colorado.

Montier has signed a three-year contract, the Patriots said Thursday.

The Latin term, incunabula, denotes books printed prior to A.D. 1500.

NCAA Title Hunt Starts Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Eighteen college basketball powers, loaded for Bruin but leery of each other, begin the annual NCAA title hunt Saturday.

UCLA's mighty Bruins, bidding for an unprecedented third successive national championship, will be watching with keen interest from their West Coast den as first round action gets underway.

Six other conference champions have drawn first round byes, along with the unbeaten, top-ranked Uclans, but seven nationally-ranked major college teams and Trinity, Tex., the No. 5 college ivision club, will go to the post at five launching sites.

At Raleigh, N.C., fifth-ranked Davidson, the Southern Conference endmning, takes on No. 10 Villanova in the nationally-televised (NBC, 2 p.m. EST) opener of a doubleheader that also pits eighth-ranked St. John's N.Y., against Princeton's Ivy League champs.

The St. John's-Princeton clash also will be televised to some Eastern points by NBC. The rest of the country will be able to tune in on the Carbondale, Ill., doubleheader windup pairing Miami, Ohio, the Mid-American Conference representative, and 17th-ranked Notre Dame.

Marquette, No. 1 in the final Associated Press ratings, meets Murray State of the Ohio Valley Conference in the Carbondale opener.

Saturday night, a single game at Kingston, R.I., and twin bills at Fort Worth, Tex., and Las Cruces, N.M., wind up the first round competition.

At Kingston, ninth-ranked Duquesne plays St. Joseph's, Pa., the upset winner of the Middle Atlantic Conference tourney.

Trinity, which chose to mix it up with the big boys following a 19-4 regular season finish, tackles Southwest Conference champ Texas A&M and Dayton collides with Colorado State University at Fort Worth.

At Las Cruces, No. 12 New Mexico State, playing on its home floor, goes against Brigham Young's Western Athletic Conference representatives and Weber State, King of the Big Sky Conference, meets Seattle.

Waiting in the wings, in addition to Pacific 8 champ UCLA, will be the titlists from the Missouri Valley, Big Eight, Big Ten, Atlantic Coast, Southeastern and West Coast Athletic conferences.

Louisville and Drake finished in a tie for the MVC crown and will play off Monday night. The Big Eight race also could wind up in a deadlock, with Colorado and Kansas tied for the lead going into Saturday's final games. The Valley and Big Eight winners will join the Fort Worth survivors in next week's Midwest Regionals at Manhattan, Kan.

The winners at Raleigh, the St. Joseph's-Duquesne survivor and the winner of the ACC tournament, in progress at Charlotte, N.C., will advance to the East regional at College Park, Md.

Purdue, the Big Ten champ, and Kentucky, the SEC finalist, go into the Midwest Regional at Madison, Wis., along with the winners at Carbondale.

UCLA and the WCAC champ — likely once-beaten Santa Clara — take on the Las Cruces winners in the West Regional on the Bruins' home court in Los Angeles.

The four regional kings will pair off in the national semifinals at Louisville, Ky., Thursday, March 20, with the championship game to be played two nights later.

Tonight, defending champion Kentucky Wesleyan and 31 other small college titans, including nationally top-ranked Ashland, Ohio, begin regional play at eight sites in the NCAA College Division playoffs.

Arkansan on Third Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Thompson of Philander Smith College at Little Rock has been named to the third team of The Associated Press' 1969 college basketball Little All-American teams.

Thompson was the only Arkansan named today to either of the three teams or as an honorable mention.

In a strange move, the Chicago Cubs tore up the 1969 contracts of stars Ron Santo, Billy Williams, Ernie Banks and Ferguson Jenkins and signed them again, this time to two year pacts with raises.

Pittsburgh, NL East

PROSPECTUS—Pirates lost a lot in the expansion draft. Four regulars went—Don Clendenen, Maury Wills, Manny Mota and Al McBean. Filling their spots will be rookies, a situation which leaves the Pirates considerably weaker than they were at this time last year when many figured they would be pennant contenders (they weren't).

PITCHING—Jim Bunning ran the gauntlet of sickness and injury last season and wound up a disappointing 4-14 (before the season the Pirates figured they had the NL flag wrapped up when they bought Bunning from the Phils). Steve Blass, a surprising 18-game winner last season, and Bob Veale, who won 13, are right behind Bunning. Ron Kline is still No. 1 in bullpen. Rating: C+

CATCHING—Jerry May is back, but figures to get some help this season from Manny Sanguillen. Neither are big hitters. Rating: C—

INFIELD—With Clendenen gone, first base is open to pair of rookies—Al Oliver and Bob Robertson, both long-ball hitters. Oliver has a slight edge, but they could wind up platooning. Bill Mazeroski will be at second (hopefully recovered from a series of injuries) and Gene Alley, another injury-hampered performer in '68, will be at short. Wills left third base open, but Dick Hefner, a 276 rookie from Columbus of the International League, looks like he'll fill it. Rating: B

OUTFIELD—Even Roberto Clemente had an off year in '68, but he'll be back in right. Willie Stargell dipped to 237 and 24 homers, but look for him in left and Motty Alou in center. Rating: B+

ROOKIES TO WATCH—Elvio Jimenez and pitchers Bob Moose and Dock Ellis could make it.

Also missing were Joe Torre of Atlanta, Sonny Wisebert of Cleveland and Jack Fisher of Cincinnati. The Reds, however, did sign Pete Rose to the largest contract in Cincinnati history. He had been asking a reported $85,000 to $90,000.

Other signers Thursday were Willie Horton of Detroit—about $65,000, at $25,000 raise; Rick Monday and Reggie Jackson of Oakland, and John Briggs and Ricardo Joseph of Philadelphia.

Weiskopf Is Leading at Orlando

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Pvt. Tom Weiskopf calls the shots on the golf course, but the Army is something else.

"Every Monday, no matter where I am on the tour, I have to go to those Reserve meetings in Columbus, Ohio," he says. "It's either that or go to Vietnam."

"I don't even want to talk about it."

But the 26-year-old blond bell-ringer from Bedford, Ohio didn't mind talking about his golf game Thursday. He took command of a 20-mile-an-hour wind and shelled the tricky Rio Pinar Country Club course with a 68 to go into the second round of the $115,000 Citrus Open tied for the lead with the veteran Rod Funseth.

Weiskopf finished strong with a 32 on the 6,849-yard par 72 lay-out while Funseth started with a 32 and scrambled for even par on the final nine. Both fired six birdies and just two bogeys.

Weiskopf pronounced his game—particularly his putting—in fine shape after five months active Reserve duty as a clerk-typist at Fort Polk, La.

The former Ohio State star was a natural to fill foursomes of Fort Polk brass because of the super star status he achieved last year as third leading money winner, with more than $150,000.

Weiskopf, runner-up by last stroke to Dan Sikes here last year, finished in a tie for 19th at two under par 286, good for nearly $1,400, last week at Doral, his first tournament after Army duty.

The 35-year-old Funseth, of San Jose, Calif., collected more than $27,000 last year but he hasn't won a tournament since the 1965 Phoenix Open.

Funseth and Weiskopf were among the early finishers, and their lead held up throughout the day as winds sent scores soaring. Less than half the field of 144 for the $23,000 first prize managed par or better.

Sikes slipped back to 69 when rains drenched the last starters as they completed their rounds. Also in with 89 were perennial runner-up Tommy Aaron; Miller Barber, winner of the rain-abbreviated Kaiser Open; newcomer Larry Hinson and Jack McGowan.

Lee Trevino shot a 74 and Jack Nicklaus fired a 70. Tom Shaw, who emerged as the tour's new personality boy after his victory at Doral, shot an opening round 74.

The field will be cut to the low 70 finishers and tied after today's second round.

San Diego's Chances Are Some Better

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
San Diego's chances of making the Western Division playoffs in the National Basketball Association are a little better today. Very little.

The Rockets came from behind to beat Boston 110-97 Thursday night, drawing another percentage point closer to fourth place Chicago in their battle for the last playoff spot.

San Diego started the night three percentage points behind the Bulls and finished two back, despite Chicago's 125-117 overtime victory over Phoenix at Carbondale, Ill.

In other games, Atlanta mauled visiting Philadelphia 138-99 and Cincinnati held off host Milwaukee 112-110.

In the American Basketball Association, Denver beat Kentucky 123-114, Oakland edged Miami 117-113 and New Orleans defeated Houston 126-119.

San Diego handed visiting Boston its fourth loss in a row by coming from behind a 55-47 halftime deficit as rookie Stu Lantz scored 18 points in the third period. Eight straight points in the finale for a 98-84 lead tied it.

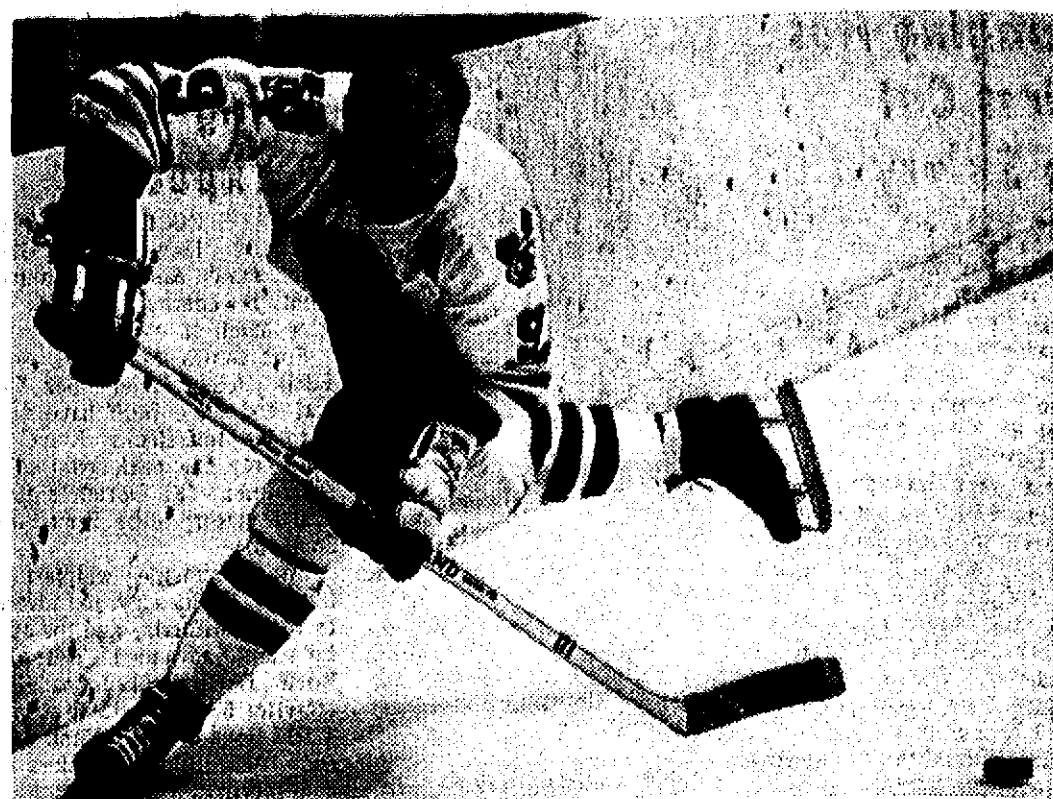

Lantz finished with a career high 28 points and teammate Elvin Hayes had 31, same as Bailey Howell of the Celtics.

San Diego now has 11 games left Chicago nine.

Clay Stripped of World Boxing Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay, stripped of the last earthly vestiges of his heavyweight boxing title, is still in there swinging—at the Man in the Moon.

"They can take my title away, but only on paper," Clay said Thursday after the World Boxing Council announced it no longer will recognize him as the champion. "They'll never whip me. There's no man on earth who can whip me in the ring and everybody in the world knows it."

"When America gets to the moon, I can beat anybody they find up there, too."

WBC President Justiano Montano of the Philippines declared the title vacant following a meeting Monday with Edwin B. Dooley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

The World Boxing Association withdrew its recognition of Clay, or Muhammad Ali as he prefers to be called, in April, 1967, after the unbeaten champion refused induction into the armed forces. Clay is appealing his conviction on that charge to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Jimmy Ellis of Louisville, Ky., captured the WBA title by winning an elimination tournament. New York and four other states recognize Joe Frazier of Philadelphia as the champion.

The WBC, which encompasses the Oriental Boxing Federation, the Latin American Boxing Federation, the European Boxing Union and the British Board of Boxing Control, said it will recognize the winner of a bout between Frazier and "a leading and acceptable contender."

Montano, who had announced last Nov. 13 that Clay would be stripped of recognition if he did not defend the crown by the end of 1968, said Thursday the action was taken because of Clay's "inability to defend his title, which has caused confusion in the heavyweight division and prevented the leading contenders from deciding the issue."

Curtis Perry of Southwest Missouri, Greg Albano, of Ithaca, N.Y., college, Buddy Cornelius of Jacksonville, Ala., State; John Nadler of Tampa and Willie Scott of Alabama State were named as this year's second team.

Dale Cushinberry of Emporia, Kan., State; Earl Dow of Lamar Tech, Robert Thompson of Philander Smith; Greg Hyder of Eastern New Mexico and Glen Summers of Cannon, Pa., were chosen as the third team.

Mike Davis of Virginia Union, Harold Booker of Cheney, Pa., State; Marvin Lewis of South-Hampton, N.Y.; Johnny Allen of Bethune-Cookman; Ted McClain, of Tennessee State; Bob Dandridge of Norfolk State, Marvin Schmitt of Western New Mexico and John McElroy of Youngstown were among the honorable mentions.

Rinka, the only junior on the first team, has been a colorful performer in the Ohio Conference, and battled Hall, a 6-2 senior, most of the season for the small college individual scoring lead. Rinka is rated a fin ball handler and also an outstanding dribbler. Hall, who is a good rebounder and playmaker in addition to his sharp shooting, has averaged around 35 points per game. Rinka's average was 34 points.

Tinsley, a 6-4 senior, helped Kentucky Wesleyan get to the NCAA College Division national championship tourney in which he hopes to lead this team to a second straight title.

Jeffries, a 6-3 senior, is the highest scorer ever for Trinity of the Southland Conference, with more than 2,400 points in his career. He will play against Texas A&M in the first round of the NCAA University tourney Saturday night since Trinity has declared for the major competition although listed in the small school category this season.

Little, a 6-0 senior, scored 50 points against Northeast Louisiana on Feb. 27.

Small Player Heads the All America List

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — John Rinka of Kenyon, Ohio, at 5-foot-9 one of the smallest players in the sport, headed the 1969 Little All-American college basketball team selected today by The Associated Press.

Picked for the first team, along with the diminutive Rinka, were Larry Jeffries, of Trinity, Tex., George Tinsley of Kentucky Wesleyan, Ken Hall of Westminster, Utah, and Sammy Little of Delta, Miss., State.

The five were chosen from the votes of 102 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the country. Rinka and Jeffries moved up from the second team a year ago while Tinsley jumped to the top from the 1968 honorable mention list.

Curtis Perry of Southwest Missouri, Greg Albano, of Ithaca, N.Y., college, Buddy Cornelius of Jacksonville, Ala., State; John Nadler of Tampa and Willie Scott of Alabama State were named as this year's second team.

Fairview in 2nd Win in State Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Unbeaten Camden Fairview continued its march toward the Class AA state basketball championship Thursday night with a 75-52 victory over Harrison.

In other quarterfinal games Thursday, Leachville whipped Mountain Home 67-48 and Paragould defeated Pine Bluff Merrill 89-72.

The semifinals matched Camden Fairview against Paragould at 3 p.m. today and Leachville against Fairview at 7 p.m.

Camden Fairview, the state's only undefeated basketball team this season with a 32-0 record, had difficulty with Harrison in the early going and trailed 16-14 at the end of the first quarter.

The Cardinals roared back in the second quarter, however, outscoring Harrison 25-9 for a 39-25 halftime lead. Shady Patton pumped in 30 points for the Cardinals and Dickie Bush and Jimmy Harris each added 13. Roger Morris hit 16 points and Jerry Smith 11 for Harrison.

Leachville led 30-29 with four minutes left in the third quarter, and outscored Mountain Home 10-0 in the final four minutes of the quarter to break the game open.

Until then, it had been close with Mountain Home leading 23-22 at halftime. Larry Box led Leachville with 25 points.

Bunning Has First Cut in Salary

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Jim Bunning took a salary cut for the first time in 20 years and he wants that money back.

The 36-year-old right hander of the Pittsburgh Pirates is confident he'll get it back if he can stay healthy.

Last year was a nightmare for the 6-foot-3 Kentuckian. He suffered through four different injuries, won only four games and lost 14. He makes it clear he'll quit before going through another campaign like that one.

Bunning, however, is not thinking in terms of quitting. He has a bright outlook on the 1969 season, with some definite goals in mind.

"I'm four wins short of 200, and I'd like to accomplish that," he said after a workout at the Pirates' training complex here. "I'd like to stay healthy the whole season. I think I'll be able to accomplish that. Then of course, in the back of my mind is pitching in the World Series (he's never been in one). I'd like to do this before I quit."

"Now, if I can do them all this year, I'd be extremely happy, and if I can't do them, I'll take maybe two out of the three. I have no serious problems with any of the injuries that affected me last year. My only feeling is that if I can maintain my health throughout the season, there is no reason why I can't help the Pittsburgh Pirates, or for that matter any ball club I might play for. The good right arm never has had any problems."

Bunning's reference to any other club results from a remark attributed to Pirates' manager Larry Shepard that Bunning has to prove himself all over again this year. As a matter of fact, Shepard said in camp, "We're not putting a lot of eggs in his (Bunning's) basket. If he gets back to the way he was a year ago (1967) that's just added gravy for our ball club."

This attitude doesn't sit too well with Bunning, a man of intense pride. "I don't have to prove myself to anyone," he said. "If I can pitch, I can pitch for anybody. If the Pirates don't want me, somebody else will be glad to have me. If I can't pitch, I'll go home. I won't cry over it."

Jones Sets a Record in ABA Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Larry Jones is 17-for-30 for Denver and the Oakland Oaks are 5-for-5 against Miami in American Basketball Association play.

Jones scored 30 points, setting an ABA record of 30 or more in 17 consecutive games, as the Rockets downed Kentucky 123-114 Thursday night.

Meanwhile, Oakland wiped out a 22-point deficit and edged Miami 117-113 or its fifth victory in as many meetings with the Floridians this season.

New Orleans whipped Houston 126-119 in the only other game scheduled, extending the Mavericks' losing streak to seven.

In National Basketball Association action, Atlanta blasted Philadelphia 138-99, Chicago beat Phoenix 125-117 in overtime, Cincinnati nipped Milwaukee 112-110 and San Diego downed Boston 110-97.

Jones dropped in a free throw with six minutes to play, breaking Connie Hawkins' mark of 18 straight 30-point games, and drew a standing ovation from the crowd of 5,000 at Denver.

He scored 12 points in the third period as the Rockets outgunned the Colonels 39-19 to break the game open. Louie Dampier topped Louisville with 23 points and Lonnie Wright had 16 for Denver.

Oakland overhauled Miami behind the scoring and playmaking of Larry Brown, who tallied 20 points and fed teammates for easy shots during a decisive 33-19 fourth quarter blitz.

Jim Eakins scored 22 points to pace the Oaks, who took a 115-113 lead on Warren Armstrong's jumper with 8 seconds to play and wrapped it up on free throws by Ira Harge.

James Jones hit for 22 of his 30 points in the second half, leading the Buccaneers past Houston. Bob Verga had 32 points for the Mavericks and teammate Stew Johnson put in 27, hitting on nine three-point field goals.

AAA Tourney Going About a Expected

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas high school Class AAA state basketball tournament is coming down to the wire much as expected.

Fort Smith Northside, North Little Rock, Little Rock Central and Pine Bluff have made it to the semifinals. There has been only one real upset of the tournament—El Dorado's first-round victory over Fort Smith Southside.

But Northside whipped El Dorado Wednesday to advance to the semifinals, and the other teams advanced Thursday. North Little Rock topped Fayetteville 53-49, Central whipped Little Rock Central Mann 68-57 and Pine Bluff knocked off Jonesboro 73-58.

Northside and North Little Rock met in the semifinals at 1:30 p.m. today and Central takes on Pine Bluff in the other semifinal battle at 8:30 p.m.

Rodney Herndon scored 25 points to lead Central to its victory Thursday. Herndon's shooting was supported by Randy Elrod with 18 and Chris Davis with 13. Central led 33-16 at halftime. Parnard Johnson of Horace Mann tallied 24 points and Larry Lowe added 13.

Pine Bluff led 17-11 at the end of the first quarter and 32-19 at halftime in rolling past Jonesboro. Jonesboro moved to within five points at the end of the third quarter, but the Zebras pulled away again.

Eddie Vinson scored 19 points for Pine Bluff, including 15 of 15 free throws. Phil Manry paced Jonesboro with 14 points.

Ricky Porter flipped in four points in the final 60 seconds as North Little Rock held off Fayetteville. Porter hit a 15-foot jumper with less than a minute left to give the Wildcats a 51-47 lead, then his two free throws with one second remaining clinched the victory. Porter finished with 21 points. Jerry House led Fayetteville with 22 points.

Nomination of Premier Complete
By MARCUS ELIASON

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's ruling Labor party today completed the nomination of former Foreign Minister Golda Meir to be Israel's next prime minister. Barring an unforeseen hitch, President Zalman Shazar will ask her no later than Monday to form a government.

The Labor party's central committee voted 287-45 to endorse the Jewish nation's leading woman politician as the successor to Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, who died Feb. 26 of a heart attack. The opposition came mainly from backers of Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, whose elevation to the prime ministry after the election is opposed by Mrs. Meir.

Mrs. Meir favors Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon over Dayan. But political observers say she will need the popular Dayan to continue as defense minister to keep up public morale.

The one-eyed defense minister said earlier this week he would be willing to serve under Mrs. Meir if she was chosen by the party committee.

Now 70, the former Milwaukee schoolteacher will be Israel's fourth prime minister and probably its last government chief from the generation of immigrants who founded the Jewish nation. After her, the leadership is expected to pass on the native-born Sabras, like Allon and Dayan.

Although Labor party leaders had asked her last week if she would accept the post, Mrs. Meir withheld her decision until the central committee voting. Privately she expressed fear that the strain of leadership might prove too much for her health.

Amid the political activity, the war between the government and Arab terrorists continued. Police blew up several small houses owned by two Arabs in Old Jerusalem after caches of arms were found in the buildings.

A police spokesman said security forces destroyed five one-room huts and sheds in Wadi Jom and the second floor of a two-story building in the Abu-wor suburb.

The property belonged to two men who the spokesman said were members of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. The front is a Palestinian commando organization which has claimed its members bombed a Jerusalem synagogue.

ket on Feb. 21 and the cafeteria at the Hebrew University Thursday.

Two Jews were killed in the supermarket explosion and nine were wounded. The blast at the university injured 28 students.

Elsewhere in the Middle East, Egypt's semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram said the United States may have "concluded" an agreement to deliver 150 M48 Patton tanks to Israel. The newspaper reported it had reliable information that the tanks would be sent to Rotterdam from a U.S. base in West Germany.

The paper also claimed a group of Israeli pilots are being trained to fly U.S. Phantom jet fighters at a U.S. base in West Germany.

The editor of Al-Ahram wrote in his weekly editorial that the current power struggle in Syria could undermine Arab military strategy against Israel. The editor, Muhammad Hassanein Helkai, is a confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser and usually reflects his views. Helkai said Israel has a "technological superiority" which the Arab states must offset by launching a coordinated land and air assault against the Jewish state and then maintaining a protracted war for several weeks.

Syria is a "main pillar" of the Arabs' eastern front, he said, and the internal affairs of that nation are therefore of interest to her Arab neighbors. Rival factions have been locked in a power struggle in Syria since Defense Minister Hafez Assad reportedly staged a bloodless coup last week.

Helkai emphasized that the Arabs must take the initiative if they are going to dislodge Israel from the territories it occupied in the June 1967 war. He said Israel could hold the east bank of the Suez Canal, the west bank of the Jordan River and Syria's Golan Heights for years if the Arabs permit the situation to "freeze."

How did the medical profession ever get along in the days before it had viruses to blame for any condition which couldn't be diagnosed?

ROCHESTER TUNES
Deaf Into
Campus Life
By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor
ROCHESTER - (NEA)—A blonde with shiny hair and a tall young man crossed the new 1,300-acre campus of the Rochester Institute of Technology.
They were holding a lively conversation, hands and lips moving quickly.
As they approached, the discussion was a silent one.
These students were part of the pilot group of the National Technical Institute for the Deaf—an act passed by Congress in 1965 for the establishment of a co-educational center at the college level for the deaf. R.I.T. was selected from among 50 universities applying for participation.
This new concept in teaching the deaf provides for integration of hearing and totally deaf students in classes. And, on a voluntary basis, even in the dorms.
"The whole idea is to bring the deaf students into the mainstream so that they can 'hear' people talk about what's going on," said Dr.
D. Robert Frisina, director of the program.
"Aside from their education, we don't realize how left out of daily life they can be. Deaf kids don't hear the news on morning radio, for example. And the visual benefits of television just aren't enough. So it's harder for them to know what's going on in the world."

My visit to R.I.T. was rewarding. It proved that there are many college kids who don't believe that being in "cool," that truly dedicated teachers are still here among us and that, regardless of numerous complaints about government spending, some of our tax money is being put to work in a way that can only win unanimous approval.

Those who bristle at the mention of college students will be heartened to learn that some 100 of the hearing student body at R.I.T. undertook a voluntary course in sign communication in order to prepare for their role in this integrated program.
The faculty, too, spent the summer vacation in a six-week seminar during which major emphasis was placed on the communication aspects of deafness. The N.I.T.D. staff members, however, advised the R.I.T.
faculty not to do anything to aid deaf students which would make their teaching less effective for those who could hear.

"In addition to teaching
deaf students," Frisina said,
"the integrated class itself is an object of research. We hope to learn from this pilot group and improve our methods as we live with the problems."

A number of deaf students can be absorbed in the integrated classes provided certain support services are offered. These services are needed because of the relative inability of the deaf to receive information readily.

"They're differently orientated," the director explained. "They get their information through the eyes.
It's not a question of their not understanding. They never get it in the first place
TO understand."

The normal manner in which classes are conducted is through the auditory signal—through speech. The basic continuity in learning comes through hearing. Vision is used as a supplement.

"For the deaf," Frisina said, "the continuity comes through visually and whatever they get auditorially is gravy."

The integrated classes are literally eye-openers. You don't dare close your eyes or you won't see the fantastic thing that is taking place.

The instructor conducted his course as though every student in the room could hear. There were rapid exchanges between class and teacher. And at one side of the instructor a young girl stood repeating with clear lip movements everything that was said and simultaneously translating it into manual sign language. Both are necessary because many deaf people can only speech-read and have never learned the manual language.

In a typical integrated class of deaf and hearing students, interpreter at right of instructor repeats what's happening in both speech reading and manual sign language.

The hands have it in the manual alphabet,

Many Openings for Women In Dental Hygiene Field

By ERNIE HOOD
Distributed by NEA

Dental hygienists can expect excellent employment opportunities through all of the 1970s.

There were approximately 16,000 employed in 1966, but despite the continued rise in the number of graduates from dental hygiene schools, the demand is expected to be greater than the number available for employment in recent years.

Practically all employed in this field are women, many of them working part time. While most are employed in private dental offices, others ences, dental sciences and liberal arts. These schools offer laboratory work, clinical experience and classroom instruction in such subjects as anatomy, chemistry, histology, pathology, pharmacology and nutrition.

The ability to work well with people and patience as well as manual dexterity and attentiveness to detail are essential.

Dental hygienists work under supervision of a dentist. They clean teeth by removing stains and calcium deposits, polish teeth and massage gums. While performing this work (oral prophylaxis) they also chart conditions of decay and disease portunities in the field are easy to understand in view of the expanding population and the growing awareness of the importance of regular dental care. Increasing interest in dental care programs for children also will lead to more employment in school systems. Added participation in dental prepayment plans and more group practice among dentists also are other added employment factors.

Earnings of dental hygienists are affected by the type of employer, education and experience of the individual hygienist and the section of the country where the job is located. Dental hygienists working in private dental offices are usually salaried employees, although some are paid a commission for work performed or a combination of salary and commission.

Salaries of those employed full time in private offices averaged about $5,500 a year in 1965, according to a survey by the American Dental Association. The annual beginning salary for a hygienist employed by the federal government was either $4,776 or $5,331 in early 1967, depending upon education and experience.

Dental hygienists employed full time in private offices usually work between 35 and 40 hours a week—and may work on Saturdays or during evening hours.

for diagnosis by the dentist. They may also take and develop X rays, mix filling compounds, apply solutions to the teeth for control of dental decay, administer prescribed medications, sterilize instruments and act as chairside assistants to the dentists. They also provide dental health education, including techniques of mouth care and proper diet.

Dental hygienists must pass an examination to be licensed by the state in which they wish to practice. In all states except Alabama and Georgia, eligibility for a license is limited to graduates of accredited dental hygiene schools, of which there are about 60 in the nation.

held for military reservists and other interested civilians.

Seven seminars were scheduled this fiscal year in Provo, Utah; Sioux Falls, S.D.; Battle Creek, Mich.; San Diego, Calif.; West Palm Beach, Fla., and Columbia, S. C. as well as Dallas. In each case the local sponsor is the Chamber of Commerce.

Officers assigned to the seminars speak from prepared statements, and Fulbright's committee asked the Pentagon for these statements to put excerpts in the published record of the treaty hearings. The chairman said this would give members of Congress an opportunity to judge whether the seminars could improperly influence public opinion.

At the Battle Creek seminar in January, Army Maj. Gen. Bruce E. Kendall, deputy commander of the Armed Forces Industrial College, asked whether "our conduct" is as bad as it appears," and then said: "I believe we are being misled to some extent, that things are not as bad as some of the mindless talk, especially from those mis-educated or educated beyond their basic intelligence (or at least their maturity), would indicate. Certainly with a little courageous leadership on the part of those in responsible positions we could change all of this in a hurry."

In order to make a start on improving human behavior, said the general, "we must figure out some way to remove from the front pages and from the TV screens the violent and disruptive few, and substitute that great bulk of Americans who are ready and willing to do whatever is necessary to keep our country great."

Kendall also cited this as a problem: "On the one hand we have a group of young people epitomized by Vietnam returnees, who are generally uncomplicated, mature, and good material for community leaders. On the other hand we have a group, older generally in age, more highly educated, yet often more immature. As the formal education of these latter young people is extended well into their twenties, we end up with, what has been classified as, extended childhood. From this group

Laird Begins Assessment in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird began his assessment of the Viet Cong offensive in an all-day round of conferences with U.S. officials in Vietnam.

Laird met all morning with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the top U.S. commander, at Abrams' headquarters. The conference continued after lunch.

The officials were said to have discussed what response the U.S. Command would make if the Viet Cong continued rocket and mortar attacks on Saigon and other major cities.

Laird warned on his arrival at midnight Thursday that "if these attacks continue unabated, an appropriate response will be made."

Pressed by newsmen as to what such a response might be and if it might include resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam, Laird said that was not the time or place to go into details.

The Viet Cong's spring offensive was in its 13th day today, and allied spokesmen reported 30 military bases shelled during the night and a mortar attack on a provincial capital in the Central Highlands. Saigon was spared. U.S. and South Vietnamese troops reported 217 of the enemy killed in ground and air operations Thursday.

As Laird conferred, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky returned from the Paris peace talks and said he believes retaliation for the enemy rocket attacks on Saigon would be "appropriate." Asked if this included bombing North Vietnam, Ky replied, "Yes."

Targets of the enemy gunners Thursday night included the U.S. 9th Infantry Division headquarters at Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon; the U.S. 1st Infantry Division headquarters 30 miles northwest of Saigon; a U.S. Marine air field near Da Nang and the Central Highlands town of Dalat, 140 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said "over-all casualties and damage were reported as light."

More than half a dozen helicopters of the 9th Division were sprayed with shrapnel and damaged, reports from Dong Tam said. Fourteen Americans were wounded there, and rockets also slammed into a U.S. Navy dock, causing light casualties and light damage aboard a landing ship.

At Dalat, a resort city as well as a South Vietnamese army training center, rockets and mortars struck a government administration building, killing one child and wounding seven civilians.

U.S. headquarters said a number of outposts near populated areas were also shelled, causing "a few civilian casualties."

In one of the ground actions reported, infantrymen from the U.S. 25th Division sweeping attack corridors 43 miles northwest of Saigon ran into enemy troops firing small arms.

much of the violent unrest has come."

Among the excerpts from seminar speeches sent to the committee by the Pentagon:

"Whatever the situation, and wherever the threat, we must be prepared and willing to exercise our role as the leader of the free World. Our military forces are organized, equipped and employed to assist the American people in this effort."

Another: "We dare not ignore the vacuum existing and developing in South Asia and the Far East—unless we are willing to accept Hawaii as the outpost of our Pacific frontier and the limit of our influence in this strategic area."

A speech on American interests makes this observation on how U.S. foreign policy works: "We have a strategic interest in the Arab countries—that is—the importance of oil to the West. And the importance of keeping the crossroads of the world open."

"For all these reasons—we seek the friendship of Arab nations."

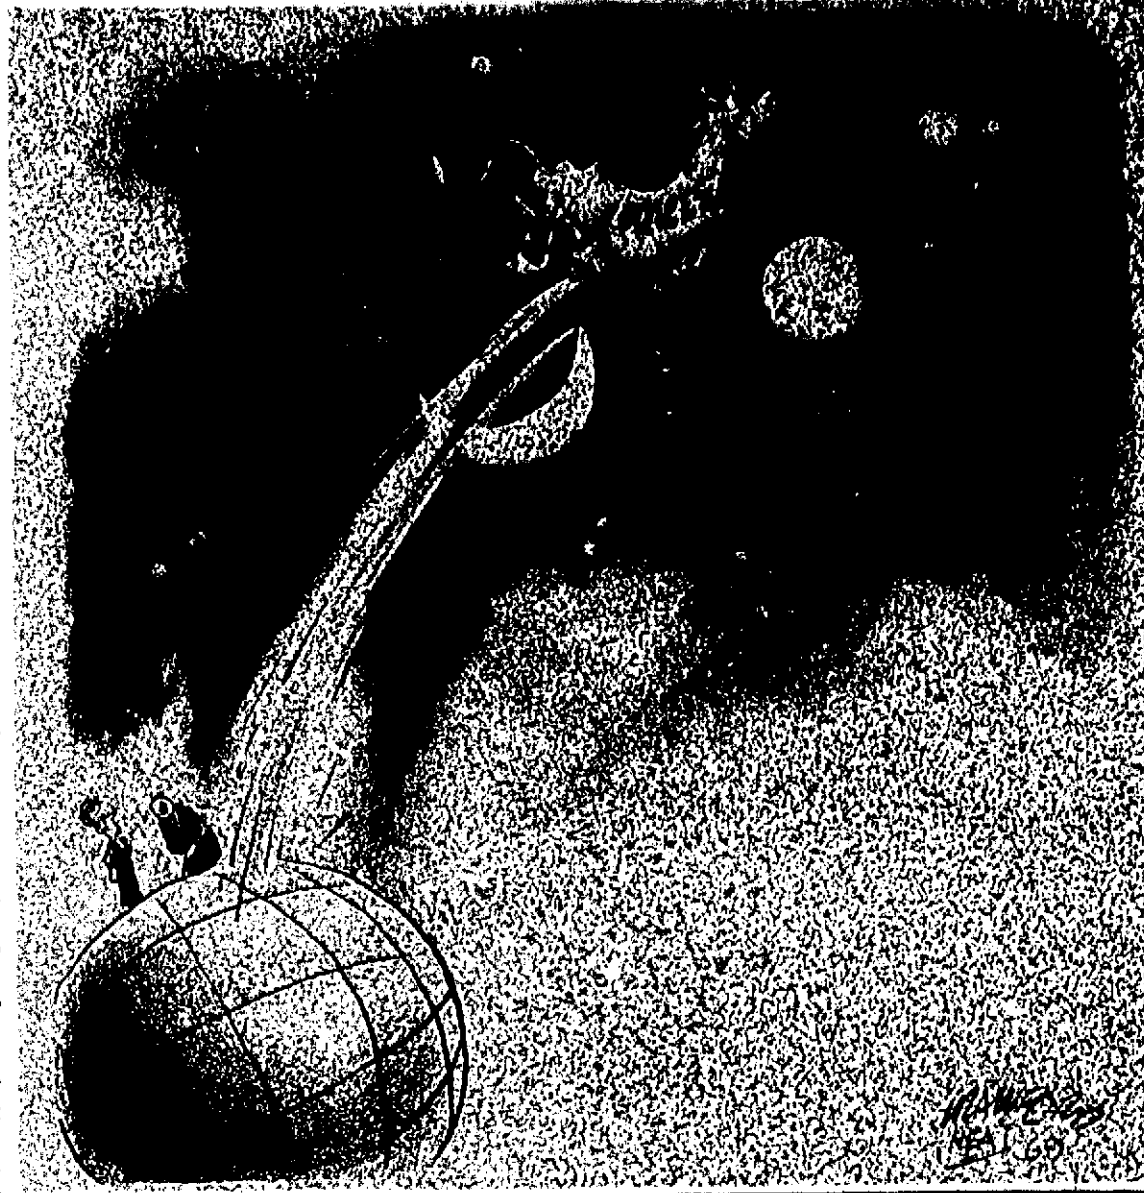

"But at the same time—Israel is a nation of Jews—and Jews are an important part of the American population."

"Not so Arabs."

"So we have closer families with the Israelis than the Arabs."

One speech notes that criticism of Vietnam may be healthy and provides voters with choices but "at the same time—and to a considerable extent—I think it represents a lack of public understanding of our

Opposition to Nuclear Treaty

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear nonproliferation treaty met sharp—but predictable—criticism today as it finally reached the Senate floor accompanied by a demand for immediate big-power disarmament talks.

Republican Barry Goldwater of Arizona, member of a small, bipartisan band of opponents, said in a prepared Senate speech that ratification of the treaty would assure "the role of the United States as the policeman of the world."

Goldwater said that a United Nations resolution adopted by the Security Council last year, plus U. S. statements in supporting that resolution would require the United States to help any nonnuclear country signing the treaty that is threatened with nuclear attack.

Despite the opposition, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee said he expected two-thirds approval by the Senate within a few days. The Foreign Relations Committee completed action on the pact Thursday by approving a report calling for an "immediate" start to big power nuclear disarmament talks.

Fulbright said the committee made no specific mention of the Sentinel antiballistic missile (ABM) system which got most of the attention during hearings on the treaty.

Opponents of the $5 billion, nuclear-armed defense system—including Fulbright—say its deployment would contradict Article VI of the nuclear treaty. Fulbright said the committee interpreted the article to mean disarmament talks should start in the "immediate future" and that such talks would naturally bar deployment of the ABM.

Under the pact, nuclear countries promise they will not turn over nuclear weapons or the know-how for making them to have-not countries. The latter promise not to try to acquire or develop such weapons.

Provisions are made for sharing peaceful uses of atomic energy.

The Senate Armed Services Committee had an unofficial look at the treaty, heard several witnesses in closed sessions and reached no conclusions.

That panel said it was interested in the military aspects of the pact. Some members have held that this country might some day want to provide nuclear weapons to allies in its own security interests and therefore should not sign the treaty.

The pact will become effective when ratified by this country, Great Britain, Russia and any 40 other countries.

Thus far, Great Britain is the only nuclear power that has ratified it. A total of 27 nonnuclear countries have done the same.

posal to increase the tax on cigarettes.

The House has stuck behind its decision to increase the tax from 8 cents to 13 cents per package while the Senate has been equally solid in favoring only a three-cent increase.

The Senate clobbered the administration's bill to increase the sales tax by one per cent but did pass a bill to impose a 15 per cent excise tax on chewing and smoking tobacco. The tobacco bill would produce an estimated $300,000 a year.

The so-called jury wheel bill cleared the House in an 88-0 vote. A similar bill created controversy before it was defeated during the 1967 legislative session.

The bill approved Thursday was prepared by a committee of the Arkansas Bar Association and had the endorsement of the administration.

The measure would create a random selection of jurors on grand and petit juries. The bill was delayed a day in the upper chamber when Sen. Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway objected to the routine second reading.

Rep. Ray Smith Jr. of Hot Springs attempted for the third time to secure passage of a bill to change the name of the Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance to the Commission on Higher Education.

Rep. Boyce Alford of Pine Bluff said the bill only would "set up little cars in Little Rock."

Rep. Bennie Ryburn of Monticello labeled the bill as nothing more than a "backdoor, sidetrack, underground and underhanded" method of creating a university system.

The bill would have empowered the commission to determine any new programs which would become effective in the state's colleges and universities but it could not interfere with existing programs.

The Senate defeated an administration bill to create a Human Resources Commission 9-16. The measure declared the public policy to be the full utilization of all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, age, national origin or economic condition.

Passed 25-1 was a bill by Sen. Morrell Cathright of Pine Bluff to create a state Library Building Commission which would authorize issuance of $3 million in general obligation bonds that would be supported by an increase in the corporate franchise tax.

However, voters would have to approve the tax and the bonds in the 1970 general election.

Passed 30-0 was a bill by Sen. W. D. Moore of El Dorado to reduce the maximum work week for firemen from 72 to 64 hours in cities with a population of 15,000 or more.

Sen. Melvin Chambers' bill to create a state Surveying Commission to study government boundaries in all counties was approved 28-0.

In other action Thursday, the House:

— Passed 68-4 a bill by Rep. L. L. "Doc" Bryan making the destruction or damaging of state property on highway right-of-way or in state parks a

Are Americans 'Free' Thinkers?

President Richard Nixon has voiced his intention to build up the nation's defense system, at least to the point of sufficiency.

According to pollster Lou Harris, 54 per cent of the American people are heartily in favor of such a policy. Only 33 per cent oppose. Thus, on surface, Nixon appears to have a clear mandate.

But wait—in the same poll, Harris researchers asked the same people whether they would be willing to pay as much as $30 a year in additional taxes to strengthen the military establishment. Fifty-three per cent said "No."

That seems to be the trouble with mandates—no cash conviction.—Asheville (N.C.) Citizen

Those Necessary Prints

Practically all American babies are born in hospitals these days and hospitals, in order to avoid baby mix-ups, hurriedly foot-print the newborn. Skin prints of the feet are just as distinctive as fingerprints. But no effort is made to forward these prints to the FBI for permanent classification and storage.

Last weekend the body of a six-months-old infant was found wrapped neatly in a blanket and placed on a ledge beneath a bridge near Vinlia. Whose baby? If the FBI had had the hospital foot records police could have known almost immediately.

Children are sometimes stolen by psychotic individuals. People get amnesia and wander off. Persons killed in accidents while passing through strange towns are often not missed for weeks.

Let's get over the silly idea that a national identification file which would include us all is an invasion of privacy. After all, we take pride in having recognizable faces.

Tide Turning?

Almost lost in the flood of information about the raging youth rebellion is a comforting little piece of information. Fewer people, relatively speaking, are reaching age 21 now than in previous years, and the downward trend will continue at least through 1975. Meanwhile, today's rebellious young people will be moving up the age ladder and—if they follow past patterns—calming down considerably. As the average age of the population rises, so, too, will the maturity of the average citizen.

This indication that the youth tide is at the flood stage and soon will be ebbing renews the hope that society will survive after all, even if the older generation does have to stand on its toes awhile longer to keep its head above water.—Greenville (S.C.) News

Talk About Dry!

We have heard a number of jokes about the comparative dryness of martinis, a cocktail which normally calls for four parts of gin and one part dry vermouth. We were slightly staggered to read a report in this newspaper the other day in which an American Medical Association official recited the amount of food and drink that would be consumed by an average American upon reaching age 70.

Among other things, said the AMA's man, a martini drinker could be expected to down 510 gallons of gin and 1½ quarts of vermouth which, if our calculations are correct, would mean 1,360 parts of gin to one part of vermouth.

We've heard of dry martinis, but this is ridiculous. And leads us to the conclusion that one or more of three things have occurred: The AMA man's computer blew a fuse; there was an error in the story; or somebody is sneaking a whole lot of straight shots of gin on the sly.—Birmingham (Ala.) News

Extension of Legislative Session Set

By ED SHEARER

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas General Assembly began setting the stage for an extension of the regular 60-day session Thursday with the Senate's adoption of a concurrent resolution to authorize an extension.

The session is scheduled to adjourn sine die next Thursday but few lawmakers believe the legislature will complete its work by then.

The House received the resolution but took no action on it. However, Rep. Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, the House majority leader, said he believed it was the sentiment of House members to extend the session day-by-day rather than recessing and returning one or two weeks later.

In other action Thursday, the House approved a jury wheel bill and rejected another proposal to create a Commission on Higher Education.

The lower chamber also amended the administration's corporate income tax measure by reducing the tax rate from seven per cent to six per cent on income in excess of $25,000.

A conference committee of members from both houses was named to attempt to resolve differences over a proposal to amend the constitution.

Berlin has been a setup for repeated crisis ever since vaguely worded agreements on access to the city were worked out following the defeat of Nazi Germany. ## Doesn't Like Spring Because It's a Time for Housecleaning

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It has been a long hard winter and most people are looking forward eagerly to spring.

Not me. As much as does the next man, I love the balmy breezes of this season and the sight of dandelions marching in yellow legions across suburban lawns. But for me spring doesn't mean release or renewal. It means war. For then is the time when the housekeepers of business managements across the land decide to clean up the office.

That means another battle begins in my long 25-year war to keep my desk the way I want it—beautifully messed up.

One after another the self-appointed vigilantes in the office splotch-and-span brigade come up and start demanding:

"All right, when are you going to do it?"

"Do what?" I reply, fending for time.

"Clean up your desk!" They say sternly.

"Never!" I mutter, lovingly plunging my arms up to the elbow in its vast clutter. What I can't understand about these righteous forces of creeping tidiness is why they aren't satisfied simply with cleaning up their own desks. Why do they insist that my desk, too, become as faceless and lacking in personality as theirs?

But year after year they do, sometimes adopting tactics that would shame a confidence man or brigand. Their conspiracies are endless.

One year one of my coworkers got his cousin, a fire-inspector, to come in on one of his off-duty

U.S. Being Tested, Say Officials

By GEORGE McARTHUR

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon's administration fully understands that it is being tested by the recent rocket attacks on Saigon, but it is determined that any response will be tailored to fit the situation in Vietnam and American public reaction.

This assessment of the possible Nixon response was learned today from an American source with knowledge of current developments in Vietnam.

The source indicated no decision had been reached although in the American view the enemy rocket attacks violated the understanding with Hanoi by which President Lyndon B. Johnson ended the bombing of North Vietnam, Nov. 1. Hanoi says the bombing halt was unconditional.

This was the picture drawn by the American source:

Any possible response would have to take into account the objectives to be sought, the psychological impact and the military and political considerations.

Among the options open to Nixon is some form of renewed bombing. The fact that this would have worldwide propaganda implications, however, is well known to American planners.

A factor in the study of reaction to the rocket attacks is a belief that the Nixon administration is enjoying a breathing spell with American public opinion.

Senate Turns Down Sales Tax Hike

By ROBERT SHAW

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate refused Thursday to pass the third major proposal in Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's tax program—a one per cent increase in the state sales tax—and established the possibility of Rockefeller seeking a third term.

The Senate tumbled the bill to raise the sales tax to four per cent on a vote of 3-30, then killed the measure by adopting a motion to table any reconsideration. The defeat had been expected.

Rockefeller has said he would seek a third term if the legislature took "inadequate action" on his tax program, designed to raise more than $90 million in the next fiscal year, and has indicated that the General Assembly's failure to pass a sales tax increase might be the single determining factor.

The sales tax increase would have raised almost $35 million, the largest revenue producer in the governor's tax package. A companion bill to give persons in the poverty classification a sales tax rebate apparently won't be brought to a vote. That bill would siphon about $9.4 million of the revenue that would have been raised by the tax increase.

The Senate Wednesday defeated the administration's proposal to increase the personal income tax and failed to pass the measure to raise the corporate income tax. Notice of reconsideration was given on each, however, to keep each a

Military Influence on Civilians Argued in Missile Treaty Issue

By HARRY KELLY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new dispute over whether the military tries to indoctrinate civilians to influence U.S. policy is growing in the debate on ratification of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and approval of an antimissile system.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee now is adding to the official record of its nuclear treaty hearings excerpts from military officers' speeches at armed services' seminars on national security for civilians.

The excerpts, obtained by The Associated Press, include comments on Jewish political influence on U.S. policy in the Middle East, and the role of America as leader of the Western World. There also is criticism of Vietnam policy, the "extended childhood" of some continuing college "well into their twenties" as contrasted with the maturity of others "epitomized by Vietnam returnees." And there are suggestions that part of the country's troubles stem from a failure of leaders to measure up.

During the treaty hearings last month, Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., complained to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird about military activities capable of influencing public opinion and, thus, decisions on such issues as deployment of the Sentinel antimissile system.

He cited the controversial public relations program proposed by Lt. Gen. Alfred D. Starbird to sell the Sentinel system as well as the Pentagon's national security seminars.

The Sentinel question came up at an armed forces seminar now underway in Dallas. Col. Robert T. Hof of the Air Force, one of five colonels assigned to lead the seminar, told the audience he believed the Sentinel system was a good plan and predicted that it eventually would be approved by Congress.

But if it isn't, he added, the nation "will be relying on other countries not to commit suicide by attacking the United States."

Most Perilous Maneuver by Apollo Crew

By HOWARD BENEDICT

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Flying with speed and precision, astronauts James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart today steered their fragile lunar module to a successful rendezvous with the Apollo 9 command ship and may have hastened an American landing on the moon.

As the two ships approached each other at 17,500 miles an hour after a separation of six hours, the astronauts were in good humor.

"You're upside down again," McDivitt said as he looked at Air Force Col. David R. Scott in the command module.

"Boy, you've got contraptions hanging out all over you," quipped Scott. He referred to lines and cables trailing behind the lunar module, or LEM, the result of engine firings during the tricky rendezvous.

The dramatic space chase began at 7:40 a.m. EST when Air Force Col. McDivitt and Schweickart disengaged the lunar module from Apollo 9 after a brief hangup when the docking mechanism didn't unlatch immediately.

Expertly maneuvering their tiny craft, they flew to a position 113 miles behind the command ship, now manned alone by Scott.

Swapping radio and radar signals with Scott, the LEM pilots began the pursuit, skillfully guiding their craft through the same maneuvers that two astronauts will have to make when they launch themselves off the moon.

The two ships lost sight of one another for about 25 minutes near the maximum range.

But, as the LEM closed in and sped into daylight, Scott reported sighting his pursuers as a tiny speck in the sky.

"We see him, too," McDivitt reported.

Trapped Miner Helps Direct Rescue Group

LARK, Utah (AP) — Rescue workers said today they were at least 24 hours away from reaching William Jones, the miner trapped underground since Saturday.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Foreign Ministry announced today that 31 Soviet troops were killed and 14 wounded in Sunday's shooting incident on the Manchurian border.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman told a news conference that a Soviet medical examination showed that the Chinese troops fired point blank at the wounded and bayoneted them.

The spokesman said that about 330 Chinese troops were involved in the alleged attack. He did not say if any of them were killed or wounded.

The Foreign Ministry announcement came after thousands of banner-waving Russians marched past the Red Chinese Embassy for three hours, hurling rocks and ink bottles in protest against the border clash.
